This family record is copied from a piece of needlework now (1972) in the possession of Mrs. H. Davis Daboll of Lakeville, CO., great, great grand-daughter of William Cunningham and Fanny White, and great grand-daughter of Charles H. Cunningham and Fanny Scriven.

The " sampler" measures about 17" x 21" and is worked in black cross-stitch on finely punched paper. There is a border of stylized rose-buds about $\frac{1}{2}$ " wide, worked in red, shaded with pink, with green touches for leaves.

From the quality of the workmanship and especially from the geometric precision of the design, it would seem to be the product of someone well above the age of a young child.

Dates written in red or underlined in red indicate information found on gravestones or verified therefrom in ^{Sept.} 1972.

* The gravestone of Wm. Cunningham, Sr. reads "died 82 years 3 mos."
